Dixon, May 30th.—The memorial services to-day were very impressive. They were held at Dixon Hall, under the auspices of John W. Geary Post, No. 113, and every minister in Dixon participated. Dr. Alexander delivered the memorial address. The other addresses were delivered by Rev. J. Heradon Garnett, Rev. J. L. Carden, Father Growley and Commander E. J. McBride. A quartet of ladies and gentlemen contributed patriotic music for the occasion. The hall was profusely decorated with flowers. Here also lies the body of General Tom Green, whose monument was covered with flowers. Governor Ireland and all the State officers were in the procession. Decoration Day was never more generally observed in this city.

A SECRET!

"Yes, Mrs. Jones, this is the truth. Yesterday, you remember how hot it was. Well, I started a fire in my 'JEWEL' NON-EXPLOSIVE VAPOR STOVE at 6:10, and at 6:40 I had my breakfast on the table, ready to commence our meal. You say it was probably a light breakfast. Well, my dear, we had potatoes, a nice beefsteak, scrambled eggs, and belood biscuit, and in cooking this meal the cost was not over coffee and baked biscuit, and in cooking this meal the cost was not over two cents—not speaking of the trouble it saved me in kindling a fire, carrying wood from the basement, chopping kindling wood, taking ashes out of the stove, and then blacking the stove after each meal, which I always do. Then, again, the kitchen was just as cool and nice as if there had been no fire at all, and, oh, Mrs. Jones, at noon I cooked my dinner, and when my husband came home, hot and tired, and found our house so cool and pleasant, he was so pleased. Why, my dear, I don't see why every family does not have one of these 'JEWEL' VAPOR STOVES. Why $100 could not buy ours if I could not get another." The above conversation actually took place, and it shows what a treasure is in reach of every family in Sacramento.
